SINERGIA ANIMAL

Cage-Free Tracker Asia

2025 - Annex

1 Progress Towards Cage-Free System in Asia

This special edition of the Cage-Free Tracker Asia provides an overview of the implementation of cage-free egg commitments made by 95 companies operating across Asia. The assessment is based on information published by companies through their official channels, including annual reports, sustainability reports, corporate websites, press releases, and official social media, as well as information provided directly to Sinergia Animal.

This Annex complements the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 report and provides additional details on the companies assessed. The information presented in this section is based on data available up to the reporting cut-off date of 31 December 2025.

Key Highlights:

95 companies assessed across Asia:
The analysis covers the same 95 companies assessed in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 and is based on publicly available information and data provided directly to Sinergia Animal.

15 companies (15.8%) are classified in Tier A comprising companies that have achieved 100% implementation of their cage-free commitment (Tier A.1) or have publicly stated that they will achieve 100% implementation by the end of 2025 (Tier A.2).

23 companies (24.2%) are classified in Tiers B and C, representing companies with varying levels of cage-free implementation progress. Tier B comprises companies with 40%–98.99% implementation progress (B.1: 70%–98.99%; B.2: 40%–69.99%), while Tier C comprises companies with 1%–39.99% implementation progress (C.1: 20%–39.99%; C.2: 1%–19.99%).

57 companies (60.0%) are classified in Tiers D and E.
Tier D includes companies that report implementation globally without a regional or national breakdown (D.1), as well as companies that have a cage-free commitment but have not yet started implementation (D.2). Tier E comprises companies that do not report implementation progress.

The December 2025 assessment shows a shift in the distribution of companies compared with the October 2025 cut-off. Tier A increased from 14 to 15 companies, while the combined number of companies in Tiers B and C increased from 20 to 23. The combined number of companies in Tiers D and E decreased from 61 to 57. The overall number of companies assessed remained unchanged at 95.

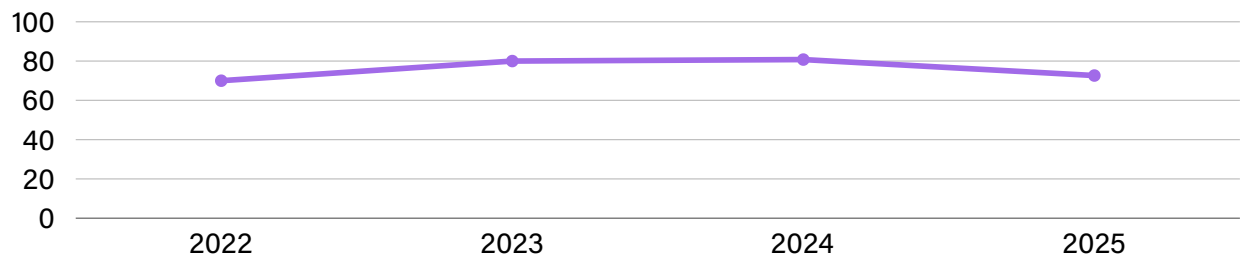

This Annex consolidates the implementation status and corporate disclosures of the 95 companies assessed in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025, using the latest information available through 31 December 2025.

2 What Have We Achieved So Far?

Over the years, the Cage-Free Tracker Asia has seen a substantial increase in the number of companies reporting progress on their cage-free commitments. The number of companies reporting implementation progress increased in 2024 was 80.8% and 72.6% in 2025 respectively. This highlights that significant gaps remain in the quantity of the selected companies, quality, consistency, and regional specificity of corporate reporting across Asia.

A company is considered to "report" when it publishes or shares verifiable information on the progress of its cage-free commitment through official channels or provides implementation information directly to Sinergia Animal. For the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 assessment, 69 of the 95 companies assessed (72.6%) reported progress in implementation. This indicates that while a substantial proportion of companies provide information on their cage-free implementation, gaps in transparency, consistency, and Asia-specific reporting remain across the region.

Year	Companies Reporting	Total Companies	Reporting Rate
2022	35	50	70.00%
2023	52	65	80.00%
2024	63	78	80.76%
2025	69	95	72.63%

*The reporting percentage is presented alongside the number of companies that reported implementation progress, out of the total number of companies assessed.

3 Why Cage-Free Systems?

Cage-free systems can allow hens to live in conditions that support their welfare, providing greater freedom of movement and enabling them to express natural behaviours. Although such systems do not necessarily include outdoor access, they represent a significant improvement over conventional cage systems.

In cage-free systems, hens can:

- Move freely and fully extend their wings
- Perch, nest, dust bathe, and forage, behaviours that are essential to their physical and psychological well-being.

Across the world, the transition towards cage-free egg production continues to gain momentum. Governments, food companies, retailers, hotels, restaurants, manufacturers, and investors are increasingly recognising cage-free sourcing as an important component of responsible and sustainable food systems. As a result, hundreds of companies have adopted public commitments to source 100% cage-free eggs within defined timelines.

In Asia, corporate commitments play a crucial role in accelerating this transition. By publicly reporting their implementation progress, companies demonstrate accountability, strengthen consumer trust, and help improve animal welfare standards throughout the region.

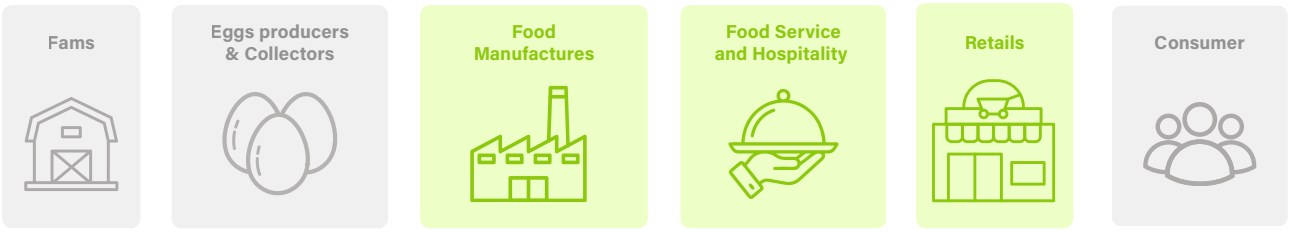

4 Companies Included in the Report

Which Companies Are Included?

The Cage-Free Tracker Asia monitors companies that purchase, use, manufacture, or sell eggs and egg-containing products across the food supply chain. These sectors represent the key corporate pressure points that can accelerate the transition towards cage-free egg sourcing through responsible procurement policies and transparent reporting.

Which Types of Companies Are Included in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia?

The Cage-Free Tracker Asia monitors companies that purchase, use, manufacture, or sell eggs and egg-containing products in the course of their business operations. These sectors represent the key points in the food supply chain where corporate purchasing decisions can significantly influence the transition towards cage-free egg production.

1 HOTELES

Use of eggs: Preparation of food served in restaurants, breakfast buffets, room service, banquets, and bakery products.

Supply chain stage:
Direct consumption / Hospitality

2 RESTAURANTS, CAFÉS, AND BAKERIES

Use of eggs: Preparation of menu items, desserts, pastries, baked goods, breakfast items, and egg-based beverages.

Supply chain stage: Direct consumption / Food service

3 CATERING AND FOOD SERVICE

Use of eggs: Large-scale food preparation for corporate clients, institutions, hospitals, schools, industrial facilities, airlines, and events.

Supply chain stage:
Direct consumption / High-volume food service (B2B)

4 FOOD MANUFACTURING

Use of eggs: Eggs are used as ingredients in processed foods, including bakery products, confectionery, sauces, snacks, ready-to-eat meals, noodles, and other packaged food products.

Supply chain stage:
Processing / Industrial transformation

5 SUPERMARKETS AND RETAILERS

Use of eggs: Retail sale of fresh shell eggs, including national and private-label brands.

Supply chain stage:
Distribution / Retail

6 TRAVEL AND TOURISM

Use of eggs: Food preparation in airlines, airports, cruise lines, railway catering, theme parks, and other tourism-related hospitality services.

Supply chain stage:
Direct consumption / Travel and tourism food service

These companies have the purchasing power to accelerate the transition towards cage-free egg production through their sourcing decisions. By adopting responsible procurement policies and publicly reporting their implementation progress, they contribute to improving animal welfare, strengthening supply chain transparency, and encouraging wider adoption of cage-free systems across Asia.

5 Classification and 2025 Progress Update

The following section presents the classification of assessed companies according to their level of cage-free implementation and reporting transparency. To facilitate interpretation, the report uses the following colour-coded system, which corresponds to the Tier classification used in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 :

Green	Companies that have achieved 100% cage-free implementation or have publicly committed to reaching 100% implementation by the end of 2025.
Yellow	Companies reporting measurable cage-free implementation progress ranging from 1% to 98.99%, at the Asia, national, or relevant reporting level.
Red	Companies that report only global implementation, provide 0% implementation in Asia, or do not publicly report implementation progress.

For this update, the colour-coded classification is retained for consistency with the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025. The classification applies the same Tier methodology and definitions used in the 2025 report, while the implementation progress and corporate disclosures presented in the following tables reflect information available through 31 December 2025.

Companies Achieving 100% Cage-Free Implementation

15 out of 95 companies (15.8%) have achieved 100% cage-free implementation or are firmly positioned to reach 100% implementation by the end of 2025.

6 From Commitment to Implementation: A Closer Look at Selected Companies

The following case studies illustrate different stages of cage-free implementation across Asia. They highlight companies that have achieved 100%, report measurable progress, or have not publicly reported implementation progress. These examples illustrate key trends across sectors but do not represent all companies assessed in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025.

For ease of reference, case studies are colour-coded by implementation and reporting status: green indicates 100% implementation, yellow indicates reported progress below 100%, and red indicates no publicly reported implementation progress.

7 Updates on Implementations Status

The 2025 Asia Annex incorporates implementation updates and corporate disclosures available within the assessment period following the original Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 assessment. These include information published through companies' official channels, as well as information provided directly to Sinergia Animal through ongoing corporate engagement, the Cage-Free Tracker Asia Company Survey, and relevant coalition channels.

All 95 companies assessed in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 were reviewed for available implementation information. The table below highlights companies for which updated or additional implementation information was identified. These updates provide a more comprehensive picture of the implementation status and progress of the companies assessed in the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025.

8 Implementation Progress Beyond the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025

The comparison between the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 and this 2025 Annex demonstrates that corporate implementation and reporting continued to evolve beyond the original Tracker assessment. Several companies disclosed updated implementation data through sustainability and annual reports, corporate websites, or information shared directly with Sinergia Animal. These additional disclosures provide a more comprehensive picture of companies' cage-free implementation and reporting status.

The Annex also highlights the continued importance of transparent, timely, and Asia-specific reporting. While many multinational companies report substantial progress at the global level, Asia-specific implementation data remain limited for many companies, making it difficult to accurately assess progress within the region. Strengthening public disclosure of Asia-specific implementation data would improve corporate accountability, enable more meaningful comparisons across companies, and support continued progress towards 100% cage-free egg sourcing across Asia.

9 Strategic Recommendations to Accelerate the Transition

Asia's food industry continues to make progress towards cage-free egg sourcing, with companies adopting commitments and increasing transparency around implementation. However, the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 and this Annex also highlight persistent challenges, including limited Asia-specific reporting, uneven implementation across sectors and markets, and gaps in timely and publicly verifiable disclosure. Addressing these challenges will require stronger collaboration across the supply chain and continued engagement from companies, egg producers, policymakers, investors, and consumers.

Drawing on the findings of the Cage-Free Tracker Asia 2025 and this Annex, Sinergia Animal recommends:

🏢 For Companies

- Publish regular, transparent, and verifiable updates on cage-free implementation progress.
- Report implementation progress specifically for Asia, alongside global reporting whenever possible.
- Establish clear implementation roadmaps with interim milestones towards full implementation.
- Strengthen collaboration with suppliers to support the transition towards cage-free egg sourcing across Asian markets.

💡 Insight: Corporate commitments have the greatest impact when supported by transparent reporting, measurable implementation, and regular public disclosure.

🥚 For Egg Producers

- Invest in cage-free production systems to meet growing corporate demand.
- Improve traceability and transparency throughout the egg supply chain.
- Collaborate with food businesses to ensure a stable and reliable supply of cage-free eggs.

💡 Insight: Long-term corporate commitments can provide producers with greater confidence to invest in cage-free production capacity.

🛒 For Consumers

- Support companies that publicly report measurable cage-free implementation progress.
- Encourage greater transparency regarding the sourcing of eggs and egg ingredients.
- Use purchasing decisions to encourage companies to adopt and implement higher animal welfare standards.

💡 Insight: Consumer demand can reinforce corporate accountability and encourage greater transparency throughout the food supply chain.

⚖️ For Policymakers

- Promote greater transparency in the labelling of eggs and egg-containing products.
- Encourage the adoption of higher animal welfare standards across the egg industry.
- Support policies and incentives that facilitate the transition towards cage-free production systems.
- Strengthen measures against misleading or unsubstantiated animal welfare claims.

💡 Insight: Public policy can complement voluntary corporate commitments and help create the enabling conditions needed for market-wide progress.

💰 For Investors and the Financial Sector

- Incorporate animal welfare and cage-free implementation into ESG assessments and responsible investment frameworks.
- Encourage companies to improve transparency through regular public reporting.
- Consider both implementation progress and reporting quality when evaluating corporate sustainability performance.

💡 Insight: Transparent reporting and measurable implementation provide important indicators of corporate accountability, supply-chain management, and long-term sustainability performance.
